WEBINAR

The Identity Impact: Crafting Effective Leadership

By Sile Walsh

Coach and expert in organizational development

While leaders come in many different forms, often effective leadership advice is generic and assumes that all identities utilizing this advice will have similar outcomes. This Webinar explores some identity differences and how they influence effectiveness in leadership roles and across academia.

Through a combination of research findings, industry insights, and practical strategies, this session aims to enhance your leadership and academic effectiveness while empowering you to support others in their academic journey.

Objectives

- Understanding how identity impacts what is perceived as effectiveness in leadership
- Develop approaches to support more equality and excellence across academia

14 May
